Organization Booth Sites Allocated By State Fair Carnival Committee

At the carnival committee meeting of the San Francisco State Fair last Thursday, April 24, the final plans for the allocation of space for organizations participating in the carnival were made. The organizations are working on their respective booths for the fair, which will be held on May 9 at the new campus.

It was decided by the committee that in lieu of individual organizations building separate booths, one long booth would be constructed, and then partitioned off according to individual group needs.

Decoration of the booths will be left up to the individual, with the exception of the purple and gold crepe paper, which will be assigned.

Norry Volk, chairman of the carnival committee, stated, "All of the organizations have worked very hard in setting up their

UNEDUCATED PLAYWRIGHTS

Blau Sees Decline of Theatre

By R. K. Fromberg

"Our playwrights lack education," contends Mr. Herbert Blau, language arts instructor at San Francisco State College, in an article, "The Education of the Playwright," published in the March issue of "The Educational Theatre Journal."

Laying aside his academic mantle and approaching the problem of the decline of the American theatre from the viewpoint of a drama critic, Mr. Blau cites examples of contemporary works to illustrate his contention that until the playwright can be made to realize a moral and spiritual responsibility for his work, the drama cannot be returned to its rightful position—that of high art.

LIMITED PERSPECTIVE

Tennessee Williams, Mr. Blau contends, is guilty of limited perspective in his "A Streetcar Named Desire," while Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman" lacks consistency of conclusion.

Playwriting has become merely a branch of the theatre, producing mechanics rather than writers. One of the finest forms of formal discipline, playwrighting requires of the playwright a background only to be acquired through a formal, classical education, Mr. Blau says. That the average youth of today may or may not be suited to this kind of education is not the point in question, states Mr. Blau. "The great writer, playwright, poet, or novelist is simply not average." It is his belief, however, that any youth can be made fit for such an education.

AUTHOR AGREES

Mr. Blau makes several references to John W. Gassner, author, critic, and student of the drama, in his article and since publication of the work he has received a letter from Mr. Gassner concurring with his conclusions.

The magazine, "The Educational Theatre Journal," is the quarterly publication of the American Theatre Association and the speech and drama departments of Stanford University.

12 State Students Appointed to Aid Marine Enlistment

Twelve San Francisco State students, members of the Marine Corps Reserve Officers' training program, have been appointed volunteer officer procurement officials during the current spring campaign to enroll college men in the Marine's officer training programs.

Eugene W. Anderson, Richard J. Belgum, Anthony J. Brill, James R. Cosgrove, Marvin A. Crews, James L. Grondona, Donald F. Linstead, Robert W. Mackey, Stanley B. Mills, John T. O'Shea, Robert S. Watt, and Robert H. McCarthy will provide information on the programs, arrange for the area Marine officer for officer procurement to speak to various organizations and otherwise assist in facilitating enrollment of eligible students for officer training with the Marines.

All students who can physically qualify are eligible for application for this officer training program offering a draft deferment status of 1-D, allowing the student to finish college before going into the service. Men between the ages of 17 and 25 of junior standing or less are eligible. The choice of subjects is left up to the student. Men in the program are free from military drills and attendance during the school year. Complete military training is given during the two six weeks training periods during the summer.

Mock Interview Conducted By Personnel Coordinator

Mr. Ward Nichols, personnel coordinator for the San Francisco school district, conducted two mock interviews for teachers at the CSTA meeting held here last Thursday.

The roles of the applicants were taken by Alan Austin, president of the CSTA, and William Neale, past president. The interviews were designed to show both good and bad techniques on the part of applicants for the teaching profession.

Following the interviews Mr. Nichols answered questions from the floor.

The next meeting of the CSTA will be held Thursday, May 8. Election of new officers for the fall semester and the adoption of a new constitution are tentatively scheduled.

Cadets Add Helicopter To State Fair Exhibit

A helicopter will soar into the air above the State Fair on May 9, every hour on the hour. It will be a part of the Air Force ROTC exhibit.

The exhibit will also include a link trainer, a cutaway model of an airplane engine, a guided missile, air rescue equipment, and various other Air Force equipment.

The helicopter and other equipment was obtained by DeVor Stanfield, one of the State Fair's executive committee, through the Fourth Air Force Reserve Headquarters.

Christian Fellowship to Sponsor TV Show Tonight

Collegiate Christian Fellowship, together with seven or eight other Bay Area Inter-Varsity Fellowship chapters, will sponsor the second annual "I-V Nite" tonight at 8 at the California Club of California, Clay at Van Ness avenue in San Francisco. The program consists of hymn singing, discussion groups, refreshments and a talk entitled "Our Hearts Are Restless," by Mr. Sheridan Atkinson, management consultant with McKinsey and Co. There will be no admission charge and all State students are invited.

Student Faculty TV Show Postponed to April 30

The appearance of State students and faculty members on the television show, "Crossword Puzzles," has been postponed until April 30. Don Johnson, Sharon McDonnell, and Maurice Besse will represent the student body in a battle of wits against a faculty group composed of Dean Alan Johnson, Mr. Robert Katz, and Dr. Margaret Jensen. The program will be seen on Channel 7 at 9 p.m.

New Hawaiian Club Here

To familiarize students from the Hawaiian Islands with the intellectual and social aspects of S. F. State, Kenro Yoshinaka and Joe Velardo are forming a Hawaiian Club on campus.

Interested students should contact either Yoshinaka, P. O. Box 1960, or Velardo, P. O. Box 1869.

Saffar to Head UN Committee

At a special election meeting of the International Relations Club last Thursday, Mohammed Saffar defeated Joe de Victoria for the chairmanship of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations, a new committee within the IRC.

Isabelle Zimmerman was elected to the office of vice-president.

The problem of subsidization has been given as the reason for incorporating the CCUN within the IRC. At other colleges and universities it enjoys independence.

The function of the CCUN at the college will be to provide a delegation to next year's Model UN conference, tentatively scheduled to convene at the University of California at Berkeley.

On Cue

Things have been buzzing in the studio of State's Radio-Television Guild! Finishing up their television run of dramatic skits, they have now turned to the second series of radio productions. These productions will include "Jane Eyre," "The Man Who Broke Bingo," and "Patient in Spite of Himself." All are excellent chances for members of the guild to show their talent as radio and television hopefuls.

Something new has been added by Radio Guild in the way of magazines. A journal entitled, "Air-Check," has been published, with the help of Conn Murray, for the sole purpose of keeping in touch with all members of the guild, both in the industry and on the student level, bringing them news and views of the guild.

Radio Guild is also planning a banquet for May 2, which will be held in the school cafeteria at 6:15 p.m. Achievement awards will be presented at the banquet and guests from the radio and television fields will be present. All interested in attending may purchase tickets for $2.50 from members of guild or from the Radio Guild office. Students are invited to attend the panels which will be held during the day discussing certain aspects of the industry.

In the past almost all types of news casts and feature programs were limited to the male announce-

Dempsey Attends Radio-TV Confab

William C. Dempsey, associate professor of radio, recently returned from Columbus, Ohio, where he attended the 22nd annual Institute for Education by radio-television.

The conference, held under the auspices of Ohio State University, lasted from April 17 through April 20.

Also attending from the bay area were Watt Long, assistant superintendent of San Francisco public schools, Vaughn Seidel, superintendent of Alameda county public schools, and Earl McNay, representing the public relations department of Standard Oil company.

Major topic of the conference was the use of radio and television for educational purposes and the furtherance of culture.

Top award in the regional and local division of educational television went to KGO-TV's "Science in Action."

ers of guild. This semester, for the first time, women will also be cast in the role of announcers. Their shows will feature latest fashion hints, home economics and various other items of interest to women. That's really making headway in the field of radio.

State Trackmen Succumb to C. O. P. in Three-Way Meet; Tigers Annex Five Out of Six Firsts in Field Events

By Herb Colton

The old adage, "Two is company, three is a crowd," can be applied to what happened to the San Francisco State College tracksters in a three-way meet in Cox Stadium last Saturday afternoon. The College of the Pacific racked up 9 firsts to lead the field with 61½ points. The Gators tallied 55 3/4, to a surprising 44 3/4 points piled up by the University of Nevada Wolfpack.

In the events the Staters figured to show well in against Pacific, the Nevadans came up strong and succeeded in chopping points from

Jim Shettler, lanky blond distance man, was named "Trackman of the Week" Monday for his double victory last Saturday against COP and Nevada.

The Gator total, and enabled the Pacific cindersmen to maintain their skimpy lead.

The State men felt the pangs of agony early in the meet when Bob Lualhati met his first outside defeat of the year in the 440. In this event the Gators had figured on a possible 8 points, with Vic Gipson following Bob to the wire. Byars of Nevada took the event in the good time of 49.8. Lualhati had to come from the outside lane in the large field to stay on the heels of the post-positioned Nevada contestant.

The Gator cause was hurt further by the Wolfpack's inability to cope with the power of Pacific in the field events. It was a foregone conclusion that Kaufman's weight men and jumpers would show little in the field. But it was hoped that the Nevada team would cut down on the points that COP

Ballplayers Drop Two More Tight Ones, 3-2, 5-4, on Errors, Homers

By Len Ralston

San Francisco State's baseball team dropped two close games in four days to Cal Poly and St. Mary's with scores of 3-2 and 5-4. The Gators almost spoiled Cal Poly's homing with an upset last Friday, but an error with two outs in the ninth inning scored the winning run for the Mustangs in a tight ball game.

In the St. Mary's contest Monday afternoon, Gael centerfielder Al Anicich broke up the ball game in the eighth inning with a home run.

Coach Dick Boyle switched infielder Bob LaCosta to pitcher for the Cal Poly tilt and the lad went the full nine innings, holding the opposition to five scattered hits.

The Gators played good defensive ball throughout the entire Cal Poly game. It was the offense that failed to click, being held to three hits. Chris Makras and Steve Driscoll both scored unearned runs on a walk and an overthrow to second.

Stan Fabiano pitched the game against the Gaels, in which the home team took an early lead of four to one in the second inning. The Gators, hitting better than usual, tied the game, 4-4, going into the eighth. However, the home run by Anicich finished the State threat.

The final appearance of the local baseball team will be against the same St. Mary's team on State's diamond Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. It will mark the last time seniors Chris Makras, Lenny Cohn and Neil McDowell will don Gator uniforms.

S. F. State Gridders Out For Practice

Spring practice for S. F. State's '52 football team started last Monday, April 28, at the new campus. Aspirants to a berth on the fall team should be signed up today.

Kappa Omega Mermen Nab Mural Swim Crown

An inspired Kappa Omega team chalked up 36 points to capture first place in the intramural swimming and diving meet held last Tuesday and Thursday at the new campus pool.

Kappa Omega's nearest rivals were the "Red Terrors" from Alpha Zeta Sigma, who accumulated 24 points. Other organizations and their order of finish are as follows: Fremont A.C., East Bay A.C., St. Mary's, A.F.R.O.T.C., and Delta Phi Gamma.

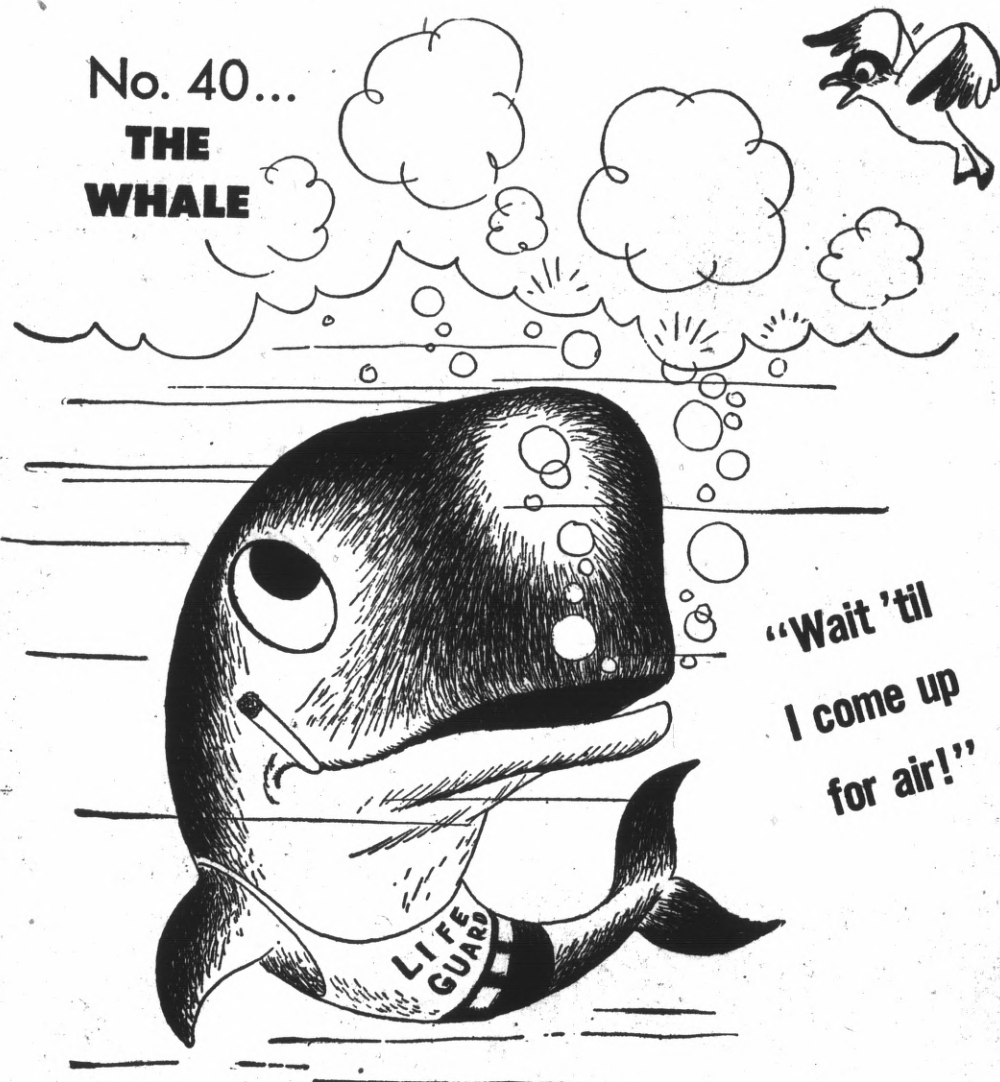

In the 25-yard backstroke, Rolph Chinn, unattached, set a new mural record as he churned the water in a time of 14.9 seconds. The old mark of 15.1 was set last year by John Holden.

RECOGNIZE FENCING AS MAJOR SPORT

In a meeting held at the new campus last Tuesday night, the Board of Athletic Control voted to recognize fencing as a major sport in the sports curriculum of the college. Fencing will now be granted the same considerations as any other major activity in the school program.

The fencing faction was represented by Coach Eric Funke D'Egnuff and Jason Rossi, who presented to the board the qualifications for lifting their sport from a minor role in the athletic program at San Francisco State College.

The high jump was the only event that Nevada succeeded in taking. It was this event that the locals had an outside chance of winning against Pacific.

Outside of winning the relay, the only other win by the Gators was the upset victory of Dick Storer over Don Leineke of COP in the high hurdles. Storer was timed in 16.2, even after stumbling over the finish line. The summaries (finished in order named):

Cal Poly Thumps Gator Golf Team

State's golf team ended its season by absorbing one of its worst lickings of the season: a 23-4 slaughter by Cal Poly at San Luis Obispo. Only bright light of the day was the showing of Chuck Andrews, the only Gator who won his match.

State's golf team suffered three setbacks in two outings recently. They lost to Sacramento State 21 1/2 to 6 1/2 on Tuesday at Harding, and to Cal Aggies, 8 1/2 to 6 1/2, and to Chico State 10 1/2 to 4 1/2 in dual matches at Yolo Fliers course in Woodland Wednesday.

BOB KAFFKE, GATOR BOXER, TO TURN PRO UNDER THE MANAGEMENT OF SID FLAHERTY

Bob Kaffke, two year boxer at State, has announced that he will turn pro, under the management of Sid Flaherty. He will make his professional debut within a few months at Hollywood's Olympic Stadium.

Flaherty is considered by many to be one of the finest managers in the country. He also handles Carl Joe Kimura, 125.5 lb. ASSFSC representative in the national Olympic wrestling finals held at Ames, Iowa, last week, caused considerable surprise on the local sporting scene by making the finals and eventually placing fourth out of a large field of regional champs.

He was pinned by Jack Blubaugh, Ponca City, Oklahoma, in 14:55, when Kimura, behind on points, threw care aside in an unsuccessful last-minute attempt at pinning his opponent. His other loss was to Billy Borders of Tulsa, Oklahoma, who was the eventual champion. Blubaugh was the second place winner.

Tennis Team Raps St. Mary's, 7-0 For 6-2 Season

State's tennis team traveled to Moraga last Saturday to hand the hosting St. Mary's Gaels a 7 to nothing drubbing.

Playing under ideal tennis weather conditions, the Gators peppered it all the way, taking all points and losing only one set; a rather remarkable accomplishment. This win gives the net team a 6 won and 2 lost record, and the two setbacks were suffered at the hands of San Jose State.
